

Blog

- ▶ About
- ▶ Social profiles

Get Your Junk On At The Vintage Market in Phoenix, Arizona

November 10, 2012

Contact

Press

Jobs

Privacy Policy

Terms & Conditions

By Jan Ross

Admit it. You watch all those shows about junk on TV. You fantasize about finding the perfect little brooch or antique lamp for $1.00 that you will later find out is actually worth approximately 8 billion dollars and you become a millionaire and move to Bali where you live a life of hedonism and debauchery.

Or maybe that's just me.

Whether you fantasize about finding the perfect piece of fabulous junk that will fund your new lifestyle or just like rooting through old stuff to find the ideal wooden shelf, chipped paint and all, that you have been dreaming of for your front hall, the Vintage Market in Phoenix is the place for you.

From vintage clothes to chipped vases and furniture that has been lovingly used, you may very well find an amazing treasure. Or at least what seems like an amazing treasure to you. And that's what really matters, right?

They will also have some giveaways, vintage photo opps and lots of ideas for unique designs as well as new items such as handmade jewelry.

With over 60 vendors offering an incredible array of items, everyone will be challenged not to buy at least one item. Or two. Or an armful. Whatever works.

Started by three like-minded girlfriends who all have a passion for things that are old and rusty but turn out to be a diamond in the rough, they all love home décor and a great bargain. They started the Junk in the Trunk Vintage Markets to share their love of junk that is also treasure. They have created an environment where vendors can bring handmade items and vintage finds to one location to share with like-minded shoppers. All three have a history of hitting garage sales with their families from an early age and all three enjoy sharing their love of fabulous junk.

Check out the Vintage Market at the Icehouse in Phoenix on November 10.

<http://junkinthetrunkvintagemarket.com/>

And it's not just the Phoenix Vintage Market that can save your pennies: check the DealAngel results for Phoenix now for the BEST hotel deals!

Leave a Reply

You must be logged in to post a comment.